Your piece has been shared with the Federalist. They may be interested in republishing. Would you be open to that?

Yawn. Y'all get up way to early in your part of the world.

1k is really good so far. It's my trans community funeral, it may as well be big.

I figured that thing was going to create quite the stir. It's just poured out of me writing it. But thank you again for the clean up effort and for having the courage to publish such a raw version of it.

I suspect it may surge a bit again when the work crowd returns to their terminals. Or you'll get an even bigger surge if a media outlet has the nerve to quote anything from it.

I caught one other minor thing for the tweaks.

"There was a famous trans girls who used to think of themselves as a boy-girl."
Just change to "girl" please.

If you want to for clarity it wouldn't hurt to add this link to the youtube video for the Janet Mock reference.

Without the video link, I think people may be somewhat lost on what was meant.

My number is 503-964-4558 if you need to text me anything.

No attacks or threats yet. They may have learned something from the last time when they took down the wiki. Instead of just the wiki returning after the suspension, two other mirror sites did as well. I suspect Dana Beyer or Brynn Tannehill have a HuffPo pieces in the works.

The tweets were priceless. Especially the @lgbtmedia one. I was reading them to Sandy last night and cracking up.

Thanks again.
